The image shows the front facade of The Waldorf-Astoria hotel. The building is a multi-story structure with a light-colored stone or concrete exterior. At the top, a large horizontal band features the name "THE WALDORF-ASTORIA" in gold, serif capital letters. This band is flanked by ornate, golden Art Deco-style sculptures. Below the name, the facade is divided into three main vertical sections by recessed columns. Each section has a large, rectangular window with a decorative, grid-like pattern. In the center section, a white statue of a winged figure stands on a pedestal. Below the windows, there are three sets of double glass doors, each with a small, striped awning. To the left and right of the central entrance are two smaller, square windows with decorative frames. The building is surrounded by greenery, including trees and potted plants. A silver sports car is parked on the street in front of the building, and a person in a dark suit is standing near the central entrance. The overall atmosphere is one of classic luxury and elegance.
