DINING

Jean-Georges

The world-renowned restaurateur brings a lifetime of experience and ceaseless creativity to a project like none other at Miami Tropic.

Though Jean-Georges Vongerichten is one of the world's most famous chefs, his skills extend far beyond the kitchen. A savvy businessman and restaurateur, Jean-Georges is responsible for the operation and success of 60 restaurants worldwide. In Miami, Jean-Georges takes in the scene around him, a paradise of possibility. The colorful, multicultural cuisine that saturates the city with spice and personality. The ocean in view, flowing with fish, shrimp, and oysters. The tropical landscape with flowers in constant bloom, palms swaying in the breeze. Every element will inform his food and beverage programming at Miami Tropic.

Born and raised on the outskirts of Strasbourg in Alsace, France, Jean-Georges' earliest memories are of his mother's cooking. At the age of 16, he began his culinary journey washing dishes in a work-study program at Auberge de l'Il as an apprentice to Chef Paul Haeberlin, then went on to work under Paul Bocuse and Louis Outhier at L'Oasis in Southern France.

With this impressive foray into the restaurant industry, Jean-Georges continued his training at the Oriental Hotel in Bangkok, the Meridien Hotel in Singapore, and the Mandarin Hotel in Hong Kong. Jean-Georges' global travels inspired his love for the exotic and aromatic flavors and ingredients of the East. In 1986, he moved to New York, where he cemented his reputation at Lafayette at The Drake Hotel and in 1991, opened his first restaurant, JoJo. 51 years later, his global footprint is unparalleled with restaurants in 13 countries and counting.

His signature cuisine abandons the traditional use of meat stocks and creams and instead features the intense flavors and textures from vegetable juices, fruit essences, light broths, and herbal vinaigrettes. Jean-Georges' culinary vision has redefined industry standards and revolutionized the way we eat.

New Horizons

Insatiable curiosity has kept Jean-Georges in constant search of what could be. In 2022 he revitalized the iconic Tin Building, transforming it into a food hall and culinary destination.

JEAN-GEORGES

A Chef's Story

From rural beginnings to Michelin-starred kitchens, Jean-Georges has redefined the standard of fine dining across the globe.

Lunch in Alsace

Jean-Georges' childhood home was like a mini restaurant. Every day, his mother prepared lunch and dinner for 12, 20, 40 guests at a time (for her family and her husband's employees), while her children peeled potatoes. From her, Jean-Georges learned to appreciate quality ingredients, avoid waste, and the art of building flavor. But as a child, he was a "bad altar boy" — stealing cigars, and once, a motorbike, skipping school, and rebelling at every turn.

On his 16th birthday, his parents took him to Auberge de l'III, a three Michelin-restaurant, where his father asked the celebrated chef Paul Haeberlin if his son could help do the dishes. Jean-Georges began an apprenticeship that would set the course of his life. Briefly stationed on an army boat, the young chef was introduced to new spices and ingredients that sparked a lifelong love of exploration.

A New Path

1985 – 2009

Live from New York

In the 1980s, Jean-Georges opened 10 restaurants under chef Outhier, including Lafayette at The Drake Hotel, in New York, in 1986, which earned a rare 4-star review from The New York Times. In 1991, he ventured on his own with JoJo (his childhood nickname), which became an immediate sensation, followed by Vong, Jean-Georges, The Mercer Kitchen, Prime in the Bellagio Las Vegas, Spice Market, Perry Street, and the list keeps going. At each new project, he explored new concepts and inventive menus, creating restaurants with their own unique character. Unlike the French chefs who came before him, Jean-Georges refused to be confined to his homeland cuisine, cooking with the rebellious and playful spirit of his childhood. His canonical 1990 cookbook, Simple Cuisine, inspired a generation of chefs.

Expansion & Exploration

As he continued to expand his reach across the country, Jean-Georges was declared the most influential chef of the decade by New York Magazine in 2005. He wrote award-winning cookbooks, earned a constellation of Michelin stars, and developed a reputation as remarkable as his food by tapping into his deep understanding of the restaurant world and pairing it with his forward-thinking vision.

Untethered to tradition, his next projects reached beyond the typical restaurant structure, with abc kitchen — a farm-to-table restaurant inside a luxury home furnishing store — hotel partnerships, and destination restaurants such as The Sand Bar in St. Barths and Le Dock in Fire Island.

Head of the Table

Once a protégé, now Jean-Georges has become the mentor to a new generation of ambitious chefs.

2017-2022

Bigger & Bolder

As Jean-Georges evolved his business over the years, many pillars remained consistent: a commitment to organic, locally sourced ingredients, sustainable practices, and an obsession with quality and guest experiences. He made waves with the opening of abcV in 2017, a revolutionary plant-based restaurant that upended the standard for vegan dining in New York.

Recently, in the city’s seaport neighborhood, Jean-Georges conceived a sprawling culinary destination in the Tin Building with 12 dining venues, a gourmet market, fishmonger, butcher, and flower shop. The lively space, inspired by both the French markets of his childhood and the historic New York fish markets, is constantly crowded with shoppers seeking the freshest catch, fine cuts from the butcher, and tables at the restaurants. Yet with 60 restaurants worldwide, Jean-Georges still can’t help but keep asking: What’s next?

DESIGN DISTRICT

A Neighborhood with Global Influence

An intimate neighborhood of under 20 city blocks, the Miami Design District is a global beacon of arts, shopping, and dining. Those who gather here don't have their finger on the pulse. They are the pulse.

The sidewalks of the Design District flow gently yet rhythmically as waves of people move in and out of the city's best — everything. Prestigious fashion houses and design brands, fine dining, and renowned galleries. The stores are art themselves, with sculptural facades that shape a one-of-a-kind skyline. The sidewalks offer trees for shade, interactive public art, and a labyrinth of pathways for endless exploration. Every year, over 20 million visitors pass through with shopping bags, pushing strollers, and speaking diverse languages. It's hard to imagine that this neighborhood was once a pineapple farm. The first retailer in the area was a colossal furniture store, the Moore Building, in the 1920s (now a luxury restaurant, hotel, and private club). After a period of disrepair, the District picked right back up where it started. Today, it's home to over 130 businesses — and counting.

DESIGN DISTRICT

Artful Encounters

When the Design District resurgence began in the 1990s, developer Craig Robins envisioned the neighborhood as an open-air museum. Among sculptural designer storefronts, the sidewalks are adorned with ever-changing installations, explosively colorful murals, and interactive art, like the famous Fly’s Eye Dome at the heart of the District. There’s no other neighborhood in the country like it.

BUILDING SCHEME

From Earth to Sky

The design of Miami Tropic flows from the ground up, inspired by the natural evolution of a tropical landscape as it reaches higher and higher into the atmosphere.

Miami-based CLAD landscape architects and renowned design studio Yabu Pushelberg collaborated on a cohesive vision for Miami Tropic that imagines a residence informed by a lively and lush tropical environment. The lower floors are grounded with deep earth tones informed by the forest floor, while the color palettes and plants lighten and awaken as the building ascends to an otherworldly rooftop inspired by the forest canopy.

It's rare to encounter microclimates, a grove of trees, and secret gardens in a tower 49 stories high — but not here. Organic, natural materials and sustainable practices bring this unique vision to life in a residence that feels utterly transportive, a testament to the delicate balance between reality and dreams.

Defining A Mood

Inspired by tropical elements, Yabu Pushelberg sought to instill a sense of discovery, vitality, and natural beauty throughout the entire building.

Immersed in Color

The interior design materials and palettes are rooted in rich, saturated tones, sumptuous fabrics and textures that evoke the tropics.

Joy and Spontaneity

The interior layout and design were carefully designed to create moments of discovery and unexpected experiences for residents.

Transformation

A vibrant living environment permeates the building, greenery strategically chosen to remain consistently lush regardless of the changing seasons.

Engaging the Senses

Live greenery, tactile finishes, and expansive views combine to create an entirely immersive environment for residents.

Discovery Along the Journey

Curated pathways, lush gardens, and decorative screens provide an experience where each moment forward reveals something new and unexpected.

Continual Terraces

The terrace overhangs have a sustainable purpose, protecting the building from sun and lowering its energy use.

AT HOME

Residences

Focusing on light, openness, and spatial design, Yabu Pushelberg's interior design reflects Miami's unique ability to cultivate spaces that are both tranquil and lively.

In the midst of a busy urban center, the interiors of the residences at Miami Tropic offer a place of escapism. Tranquility. A sense of luxurious retreat. The residences, which begin on the 9th floor, are informed by the tropical sky, with wide, floor-to-ceiling windows that let natural light dapple through each room. "Miami residents are sophisticated yet fun and spontaneous," said the designers. "Our design infuses commissioned art, embraces deep luxuries, and plays with color and materials. We aimed to evolve the idea of what a residence in Miami can mean. Luxury, often associated with stiffness and grandeur, doesn't have to be separate from joy and playfulness."

Ground Floor

The landscape architecture designed by CLAD for Miami Tropic goes far beyond what typical residential greenery entails, nearly recreating a tropical rainforest on a concrete city block. It begins at the moment of arrival at the building’s dual entrances, where feathery ferns and glossy palms line the staircase, like winding through the forest floor.

Breaking New Ground

INTERIOR DESIGN

Yabu Pushelberg

The transportive interior design of Miami Tropic is the masterful vision of an international studio with a simple mission: It's all about designing the world we want to live in.

George Yabu and Glenn Pushelberg formed one of the world's most influential design studios in 1980. Their goal: to create immersive environments and compelling destinations. Here at Miami Tropic, the interiors capture the essence of their setting in a vibrant palette that includes verdant greens and shimmering blues.

Tactile fabrics and cool natural stone promote a sense of calm throughout each residence, with the occasional bold, playful flourish in homage to the dynamism of the Design District. Their singular vision and unceasing commitment to detail is manifested in every room. These are residences to savor from morning coffee at the breakfast bar to a soothing night cap on the terrace followed by deep, restorative sleep.

The distinctive layering of the building creates unique sightlines and open perspectives for each residence. Moving from inside to out, the far-reaching views over city and water are framed by cool white pillars and lush landscaping, forming strong connections between the building and the people who live there. This is a residence like no other in Miami; a home of character, a place to belong.

The London Edition

The design studio combined the refined English manor touches with their love of natural materials to create a futuristic slickness in this historic hotel.

“There was this raw excitement that drew us into Miami,” said the designers. “Our design for Miami Tropic speaks to joy, play, sophistication, and serenity, blending these elements seamlessly to create a unique residential experience.” Their recent projects include a fifth EDITION hotel, resort projects across Southeast Asia, Japan, and Mexico, and a collaboration with Bruno Mars on The Pinky Ring, a cocktail lounge and jazz bar at the Bellagio Las Vegas.

Built to Last

The award-winning architecture firm is known for its high modernism and striking facades.

ARCHITECT

Arquitectonica

A tower floats above the palm line, built from a blueprint that began with a simple flick of a wrist, a Fibonacci spiral, a nautilus shell, unfurling up and out, turned skyward. Miami Tropic is living, breathing art by the Miami-based Arquitectonica.

Bernardo Fort-Brescia is a co-founder of Arquitectonica, an international architecture, interior design, and planning firm known for its innovative and modern designs. Fort-Brescia received his undergraduate degree in architecture from Princeton University and his master's degree from Harvard University's Graduate School of Design. Since founding Arquitectonica in Miami, Florida in 1977 with his wife, Laurinda Spear, Fort-Brescia has led the design of many of the firm's notable projects, ranging from residential and commercial buildings to large-scale master plans and urban developments.

Arquitectonica has received numerous awards and has completed projects in over 60 countries. The firm continues to push the limits of design with its innovative use of materials, geometry, patterns, and color to introduce a new brand of humanistic modern design to the world. With a commitment to excellence and creativity, Arquitectonica is reshaping urban landscapes and enhancing the way we experience our environments.

Behind the Blueprint

The plans for Miami Tropic began with a swirl of a pencil, a vision of a graphic building that lights the sky like a shooting star.

Regalia

Undulating terraces surround this Sunny Isles Beach residential tower by Arquitectonica.

Bernardo Fort-Brescia envisioned a highly designed building in tune with the neighboring Design District, with an artful eye and activated energy that blends the indoors and out. Continuous balconies, vast windows, and inner courtyards create a constant ebb and flow between environments. At Miami Tropic, you never feel “cooped up inside,” said Fort-Brescia, “we’re creating indoor-outdoor living, like life in the tropics.”

Brickell City Centre

Arquitectonica designed the master plan for Miami’s Brickell City Centre, featuring the Climate Ribbon—an elevated trellis that sustainably enhances airflow and reduces energy consumption while providing shade and shelter for pedestrians.

Bold Beginnings

The architecture "connects to the fabric of the neighborhood in a beautiful way," said Fort-Brescia.
